8 Summary of historical background

Historical Background to claims by Ngāi Te Rangi

- (1) During the 1840s and 1850s, the Crown had a limited presence in Tauranga. Ngāi Te Rangi continued to operate under their traditional tikanga and authority.
- (2) In 1858 the Kīngitanga was founded to create a Māori political authority that could engage with the Crown. Many Ngāi Te Rangi hapū and individuals supported the Kīngitanga. During the early stages of the Waikato war, Ngāi Te Rangi supplied food, weapons, ammunition and men to their Waikato allies. In January 1864 the Crown sent troops to Tauranga to disrupt this, and in April Ngāi Te Rangi defeated the Crown at the battle of Pukehinahina (Gate Pā). In June Crown troops defeated Māori forces at Te Ranga.
- (3) Between 1865 and 1868 the Crown established a confiscation district in Tauranga covering 290 000 acres to punish Māori who had opposed the Crown. Governor Grey undertook to return three-quarters of the district and retain one-quarter of the lands of rebels. Ngāi Te Rangī rangatira understood that only those considered to be in rebellion would lose a quarter of their lands. The Crown instead retained a 50 000 acre block between the Waimapu and Wairoa Rivers. This included key Ngāi Te Rangī settlements on the Te Papa and Otu-moetai peninsulas and other Ngāi Te Rangī settlements and resource-gathering sites in the ranges. The remaining lands in the confiscation district in which Ngāi Te Rangī held interests were returned by the Crown to individuals rather than hapū. This was a slow process which was not completed until the mid-1880s.

- (4) In 1865 prominent Ngāi Te Rangī rangatira Hori Tupaea became associated with Pai Marire activities and was detained without being charged with any offence. He was released on parole on condition that he declare his allegiance to the Crown and live at a place of the Governor's choosing, affecting Ngāi Te Rangī leadership at a crucial time.
- (5) Between 1864 and 1866 the Crown purchased 90 000 acres of land at Te Puna-Katikati. The purchase was arranged with nine Ngāi Te Rangī chiefs despite the opposition of other Ngāi Te Rangī rangatira. The Crown also purchased the Te Papa Peninsula from the Church Missionary Society, despite the CMS insisting that it held the land for the benefit of Ngāi Te Rangī and other Māori. Today Te Papa is the site of Tauranga's central business district.
- (6) The individualisation of title made Ngāi Te Rangī lands more susceptible to alienation. Crown purchasing activity, in particular during times of economic hardship in the 1880s and 1890s, led to the loss of lands at one of Ngāi Te Rangī's most significant sites, Mauao, as well as at Otawa and on the off-shore islands Moturiki, Motuotau and Karewa.
- (7) During the twentieth century, infrastructure projects underpinning the development of Tauranga were constructed on land compulsorily acquired from Ngāi Te Rangī. These projects included the airport and port, Tauranga-Mount Maunganui power transmission line, water and harbour works, and Tauranga Te Maunga motorway.

- (8) Some of these projects have resulted in the environmental degradation of Tauranga Moana and a reduction in biodiversity and food resources. Ngāi Te Rangi consider that the use of the Public Works Act had the same result as confiscation.
- (9) Ngāi Te Rangi lost control over further lands through Crown policies including land development schemes and the compulsory acquisition of uneconomic shares.
- (10) The Crown's actions and omissions have meant that today Ngāi Te Rangi is virtually landless, retaining only approximately 2 percent of their rohe, and that their cultural landscapes and seascapes have been compromised and diminished.

Historical Background to claims by Ngā Potiki

- (11) In January 1864, the Crown deployed troops to Tauranga to stem the flow of Māori forces to the Waikato conflict. The Crown considered many Tauranga Māori to have been in "rebellion" during 1863 and 1864, and between 1865 and 1868 established a confiscation district in Tauranga covering 290 000 acres to punish Māori who had opposed the Crown. The land in the confiscation district in which Ngā Potiki held interests was subsequently returned, but this land was returned under Crown grants to individual owners and was a slow process which was not completed until the mid-1880s.
- (12) Ngā Potiki were awarded lands at Mangatawa and Pāpāmoa. By 1893 the Crown had acquired well over half the Pāpāmoa block, including most of the coastline in the block, using aggressive purchasing tactics. This restricted Ngā Potiki access to their important coastal resources and sites of significance such as coastal urupā. From 1896 the remaining 6 000 acres of Pāpāmoa and Mangatawa were subject to a long and complex process of subdivision and alienation. Residential development along the Pāpāmoa coastal plain over the latter part of the twentieth century has been at the expense of Ngā Potiki heritage and archaeology.
- (13) Since 1886, 421 acres of Ngā Potiki lands have been acquired for public works purposes. These include Mangatawa, a maunga tapu of great importance to Ngā Potiki and noted as the burial place of Tamapahore, the founding tūpuna of Ngā Potiki. In 1946 the Crown compulsorily acquired 5 acres of Mangatawa for a quarry. Quarrying destroyed the once formidable Mangatawa hill-top pā, with its kainga and cultivation terraces, and burial caves, and uncovered numerous koiwi.

- (14) In 1967 the Crown took 32 acres of the Pāpāmoa block adjacent to Te Tahuna o Rangataua (Rangataua estuary), where some Ngā Potiki were living, for the purposes of rubbish disposal. In 1975, despite vociferous opposition by Ngā Potiki, the Mount Maunganui Borough Reclamation and Empowering Act brought into operation a plan for reclamation work on the Rangataua tidal flats, and the construction of sewerage ponds and an outfall joining the ponds to the ocean. The ponds and adjacent rubbish dump make food gathering and other activities in Te Tahuna o Rangataua undesirable, effectively dislocating Ngā Potiki from the area.
- (15) Between 1976 and 1978 the Mount Maunganui Borough Council created easements through Ngā Potiki lands in the Mangatawa and Pāpāmoa blocks, including through the Waitahanui urupā, for the laying of a pipe to discharge wastewater from the sewerage ponds into the Pacific Ocean. The passage of sewerage through this extremely tapu place is repugnant to Ngā Potiki.
- (16) From 1962, with the agreement of the Māori owner, the Post Office used the summit of Kopukairoa (also referred to as Kopukairua) as the site of a VHF transmitter. In 1971 the Crown formally took Kopukairoa summit through public works legislation. Ngā Potiki regard Kopukairoa as a maunga of immense cultural importance, and its loss remains a source of significant grievance.
- (17) Ngā Potiki consider that the amount of land taken for public works does not convey the full extent of the loss to them. Public works takings have had enduring negative impacts on Ngā Potiki's lands, resources, mana, cultural integrity and identity.
- (18) The land which Ngā Potiki retained proved insufficient for Ngā Potiki's needs during the twentieth century. By the end of the century Ngā Potiki were left with just over 2 600 acres of land in Māori freehold title. The small amount of land that Ngā Potiki retains is largely cut off from the ocean, and this has impacted negatively on the identity of Ngā Potiki.

9 Acknowledgements

- (1) The Crown acknowledges that until now it has failed to deal with the long-standing grievances of Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki in an appropriate way. The Crown hereby recognises the legitimacy of the historical grievances of Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki and makes the following acknowledgements.
- (2) The Crown acknowledges that, prior to 1864, Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki continued to manage their lands and resources according to their tikanga and were engaging in the New Zealand economy.
- (3) The Crown acknowledges that it was ultimately responsible for the outbreak of war in Tauranga in 1864, and the resulting loss of life, and its actions were a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles. The Crown acknowledges that a number of Ngāi Te Rangi were killed and wounded in battles at Pukehinahina and Te Ranga, but that Ngāi Te Rangi were faithful to the rules of engagement they set down prior to the fighting, and provided aid to wounded Crown soldiers. The Crown also acknowledges that Ngāi Te Rangi chief Hori Tupaea was detained without being charged or tried and was released on the condition that he declared his allegiance to the Crown.
- (4) The Crown acknowledges that the confiscation at Tauranga and the subsequent Tauranga District Lands Acts 1867 and 1868 were indiscriminate, unjust and a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles. The Crown also acknowledges that:
 - (a) it determined and imposed the location of the 50 000 acre block that was confiscated by the Crown; and
 - (b) the confiscated block included Ngāi Te Rangi lands; and
 - (c) lands in the Tauranga Confiscation District returned or reserved to Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki were in the form of individualised title rather than Māori customary title.
- (5) The Crown also acknowledges that land on the Te Papa Peninsula which today constitutes the Tauranga central business district was included within the confiscation district, and was conveyed to the Crown by a private institution despite this insti-

- tution previously insisting that it would always hold this land for the benefit of Māori.
- (6) The Crown further acknowledges that the confiscation and the subsequent Tauranga District Lands Acts 1867 and 1868:
- (a) had a devastating effect on the welfare and economy of Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki; and
 - (b) deprived Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki of wāhi tapu, access to significant parts of the cultural landscapes and seascapes, and opportunities for development at Tauranga; and
 - (c) restricted Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki in the exercise of mana and rangatiratanga over their lands and resources within Tauranga Moana.
- (7) The Crown acknowledges that it failed to actively protect Ngāi Te Rangi interests in lands they wished to retain when it initiated the purchase of the Te Puna and Katikati blocks in 1864 with only nine members of Ngāi Te Rangi and completed the purchase despite the opposition of other Ngāi Te Rangi chiefs. The Crown acknowledges that this failure was in breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
- (8) The Crown acknowledges that:
- (a) it imposed the individualisation of titles by the Tauranga Land Commissioners on Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki, and did not consult Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki on the introduction of native land legislation; and
 - (b) the reserves set aside in the 50 000 acre and Te Puna-Katikati blocks were mainly awarded to just a few Ngāi Te Rangi individuals; and
 - (c) the Tauranga Land Commissioners took many years to complete their investigations of the ownership of land; and
 - (d) those Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki lands within the confiscation district which were returned to Māori were granted by the Crown to individual owners; and
 - (e) the awarding of titles to individuals by the Tauranga Land Commissioners and the Native Land Court made Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki lands more susceptible to partition, fragmentation and alienation; and

- (f) this had a prejudicial effect on Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki as it contributed to the erosion of tribal structures which were based on collective tribal and hapū custodianship of land. The Crown failed to take adequate steps to protect those structures and this was a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
- (9) The Crown acknowledges that, less than 20 years after confiscating a large amount of land from Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki, it began purchasing additional large amounts, including the sacred site of Mauao, the offshore islands of Karewa, Motuotau, Moturiki and Tuhua, and Papamoa and Otawa, at a time of great economic hardship for Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki. The Crown further acknowledges that in negotiating land purchases from Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki during the 1880s and 1890s it:
- (a) frequently made use of monopoly powers; and
 - (b) used aggressive tactics to negotiate for land including—
 - (i) exploiting food shortages to persuade individuals to sell; and
 - (ii) purchasing interests from minors.
- (10) The Crown acknowledges that:
- (a) by the end of the twentieth century, Ngā Potiki were left with just over 2 600 acres in Maori freehold title; and
 - (b) the loss of most of their coastal lands has reduced Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki's access to coastal urupā, kainga, food-gathering areas, and associated resources; and
 - (c) the cumulative effect of its actions and omissions has left Ngāi Te Rangi virtually landless; and
 - (d) the Crown's failure to ensure that Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki retained sufficient land for their present and future needs was a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles.
- (11) The Crown acknowledges that the operation of a development scheme at Kaitimako from the 1930s to the 1950s meant that Ngāi Te Rangi lost effective control of this land for a number of years.
- (12) The Crown acknowledges that between 1953 and 1974, it empowered the Māori Trustee to compulsorily acquire Māori land interests it deemed 'uneconomic', and this was a breach of the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles, and deprived some Ngāi Te Rangi of a direct link to their turangawaewae.

- (13) The Crown acknowledges that it compulsorily acquired over 4 000 acres of land from Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki under public works legislation, including areas of cultural significance to Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki such as Panepane, the maunga tupuna Mangatawa and urupā. These takings have given rise to a serious grievance that is still felt today by Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki. The Crown further acknowledges that it breached the Treaty of Waitangi and its principles by:
- (a) failing to protect the interests of the owners in relation to the Whareroa lands taken for "better utilisation"; and
 - (b) failing to adequately notify or provide compensation to some owners in relation to the construction of power lines over Māori-owned land; and
 - (c) knowingly taking more land than was required for the public work in relation to Kaitimako B and C. By not consulting the owners, the Crown failed to provide them with the opportunity to negotiate the amount to be taken.
- (14) The Crown acknowledges that public works have had enduring negative effects on the lands, resources, and cultural identity of Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki, including:
- (a) the laying of sewerage and wastewater pipes over the Waitahanui urupā and the taking of lands for effluent treatment ponds; and
 - (b) the taking of land at Papamoa for rubbish disposal; and
 - (c) the establishment of a communications tower on the peak of Kopukairoa; and
 - (d) the development of the port and airport; and
 - (e) the motorway and infrastructure networks on the Maungatapu and Matapihi Peninsulas.
- (15) The Crown further acknowledges:
- (a) the significant contribution that Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki have made to the wealth and infrastructure of Tauranga on account of the lands taken for public works; and
 - (b) the generosity of spirit shown by Ngāi te Rangi in enabling Tūhua to be the first island to be designated a

Māori conservation area, and the lost opportunity for Ngāi Te Rangī to exercise rangatiratanga over the island.

- (16) The Crown acknowledges that the raupatu/confiscation at Tauranga, many of the Crown's subsequent policies, and the expansion of Tauranga onto the remaining lands of Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki have contributed to the socio-economic marginalisation of Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki in their rohe, and that Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki living within their rohe suffer worse housing conditions, health, economic and educational outcomes than other New Zealanders.
- (17) The Crown acknowledges:
- (a) the significance of the land, forests, harbours, and waterways of Tauranga Moana to Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki as a physical and spiritual resource; and
 - (b) that the development of the Port of Tauranga, the disposing of sewerage and wastewater into the harbours and waterways of Tauranga Moana, and the construction of effluent treatment ponds on Te Tahuna o Rangataua, have resulted in the environmental degradation of Tauranga Moana and reduction of biodiversity and food resources which remain a source of great distress to Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki.

10 Apology

- (1) The Crown makes this apology to Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki, to your tūpuna and to your descendants.
- (2) The Crown unreservedly apologises for not having fulfilled its obligations to Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki under te Tiriti o Waitangi/the Treaty of Waitangi and for having shown disrespect for the mana and rangatiratanga of Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki.
- (3) The Crown's acts and omissions since the signing of the Treaty of Waitangi have dishonoured the spirit with which Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki entered the Treaty with the Crown. At the Crown's hands Ngāi Te Rangī and Ngā Potiki suffered because of war and raupatu in Tauranga and the serious deprivations that followed. The Crown is profoundly sorry for its actions and that your people have carried the heavy burden of these Crown actions over successive generations.

- (4) The Crown deeply regrets its acts and omissions which have led to the loss of so much of the lands of Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki. The Crown apologises for the loss of sacred sites and key resources its acts and omissions have caused Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki. In particular the Crown is profoundly sorry that Ngāi Te Rangi lost ownership of Mauao for 120 years and lost access to coastal lands, and that Ngā Potiki lost access to coastal lands at Papamoa.
- (5) The Crown is deeply sorry for the marginalisation Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki have endured while the city of Tauranga expanded on their customary lands. The Crown apologises for the lost opportunities for development, and for the significant harm its actions have caused to the social and economic well-being of Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki.
- (6) Through this apology and this settlement the Crown seeks to address the wrongs of the past and to create a new platform from which to establish a relationship with Ngāi Te Rangi and Ngā Potiki, a relationship based on mutual respect and cooperation as was originally envisaged by the Treaty of Waitangi.
